

NH Debate Analysis-1

Farmer and income tax: A huge debate media wide is going on newly proposed tax policies, in which more weight is sought to lay on ultra rich or high income earners. Some experts found saying that farmers should also be included in tax payers. I think it should be most welcomed condition to fact that:

1. Farmers should be provided with right to decide the selling price of their products (crops, vegetables and fruits) in their own hands.
2. Create post retirement social security schemes for farmers.
3. Plan pension schemes on track of regular employee for them.
4. Include them in main stream honorary system of Indian Civil Honor like Bharat Ratna and 3 categories of Padma Shri.
5. Remove the "Aadhti – middle man" lobby from crop purchase system and made it direct one to one deal between farmer and end consumer.
6. Government should not intervene any kind of land purchasing between farmer and corporate world, let them deal it their selves. Political and administrative machinery and police forces should be kept away from such deals. Government should ask land only for public interest purposes and not for corporate benefits.
7. Currently even subsidies are given to fertilizer producers instead to farmers, sugar factory owners and even big fish businesses like diesel...which is given on the name of farming but not to farmers rather to producers...so it should also be made straight in align to their real beneficiaries it was introduced for.
8. There should be no ceiling on land holding of land. When a corporate can own as many industries as possible then why ceiling on land holding?
9. Post industry pack-up land should be returned to the original farmer under a definite process of recurring.
